

MANHATTAN DEMOCRACY FOR THE PARTY TICKET; REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES ACCEPT NOMINATIONS. STECKLER FORCES TO BE "REGULAR" AGAIN. DAILY ACCEPTS THE FUSION NOMINATION.

Manhattan Democracy Resolves to Support the Regular Ticket, and Urges Voters to Register and Enroll.

State Committee Not to Use Oratory in the Battle for Control of the Assembly—Hill to Meet Leaders To-Day.

Charles Steckler, than whom no man, Chairman Odell, of the Republican State Committee, has said, did more to elect Theodore Roosevelt Governor, led his Manhattan Democracy followers over to the support of the Tammany judicial ticket last night.

At a largely attended meeting held at the Sturtevant House this address was read to the voters of the Borough of Manhattan and the Bronx.

The alternative is presented to the voter at the coming election to cast his ballot either for the ticket nominated by the Democratic party or that nominated by the Republican party.

The Manhattan Democracy urge the voters of the Boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx to cast their ballot for the Democratic ticket, for the following reasons: Prior to the enactment of the present primary laws, a Democrat dissatisfied with the leaders in control of the party had but one alternative, that was to oppose it, and by doing so he was compelled to vote for the ticket nominated by the Republicans.

Now this is happily averted.

A Voice in Party Affairs.

A Democrat who is interested in the welfare of the party need not go outside of its ranks to fight for purity within, but may remain a Democrat, and by enrolling at the election and declaring himself a Democrat and voting the Democratic ticket, he is entitled to enroll as a voter, and gives him a voice as to who should control the conduct of the party.

The Democratic party having this year nominated a judicial ticket composed of such good, faithful public servants as George C. Barrett, James A. O'Gorman, James H. Fitzsimons and Lewis J. Conlan, there is no longer any reason why an independent Democrat should not vote this ticket, which gives him the right, by enrolling, to vote at the primaries and thus exercise his voice in the party.

As citizens first and Democrats second, it is to the best interest of the people of this community that an Assembly should be elected with a Democratic majority, for the reason that the Governor and upper branch of the Legislature are both Republican.

Under a Democratic Assembly the wings of the Republicans will be clipped, and they thereby will be prevented from using the legislative power against the interests of the people, and with the responsibility thus divided between the Democrats and Republicans no legislation obnoxious to the interests of the people can possibly be enacted, because one will be a check to the other, and both will necessarily be put on their good behavior.

Vote All to Enroll.

We respectfully urge all Democrats to register and enroll, so that they may have a voice in the management of the party.

The primary in the hands of the people is a most powerful weapon, and unless we use it we have no right to complain of the evils that exist, and these we can prevent if we do our duty as citizens by voting at the primaries. Friday and Saturday of this week are the only two days left for registration.

Let all Democrats register and at the same time enroll as Democrats.

The Manhattan Democracy is pretty well organized in every Assembly district in the city, and the registration of a sufficient number of voters may be cast for the Tammany ticket, a committee on enrollment was named last night, with Alexander Brown as chairman, and these members: Ernest Harrier, Charles Steckler, George C. O'Connell, Albert Levine, L. G. Brown, John O'Sullivan, Charles Seligman, John H. H. Brown, Dr. S. I. Abramson. The organization polled more than twenty thousand votes for Alfred Steckler as a candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court in 1895, and the voters say it will poll as many for the Tammany ticket this year.

CITY CLUB FOR FUSION.

Council Decides to Conduct an Active Campaign for the Ticket.

The conference committee of five appointed by the council of the City Club reported last night that it endorsed the candidates nominated on the fusion county ticket. Everett P. Wheeler read the report. The council adopted a resolution requesting the club to conduct an active campaign for the fusion ticket, and to cooperate with the other organizations in that work.

A universal solvent of food is the raw-paw meat juice in Johnson's Digestive Tablets.

David Bennett Hill said yesterday that he had no intention of making any speeches during the present campaign for the election of Assemblymen. At the same time he would do all he could otherwise to make certain of a Democratic majority in the lower house at Albany. Mr. Hill came down from Albany yesterday. He is stopping at the Hotel Manhattan, and will see Chairman Danforth and other party leaders today.

Chairman Danforth, of the Democratic State Committee, who returned from Philadelphia yesterday afternoon, also said the campaign was not to be of the spell binder order. Not a single orator will be sent out from headquarters.

The committee will content itself with flooding the State with literature exposing the iniquities of the Platt Legislature, and with branding out the greatest possible vote for the party nominees.

"My correspondence," said Chairman Danforth, "indicates that Democrats in the rural districts are hard at work and the chances for our gaining a number of members of Assembly are exceedingly bright. From this moment until the canvass ends I shall be at my desk. The most aggressive campaign we can inaugurate will be prosecuted."

Chairman Danforth had as callers ex-Lieutenant-Governor William F. Sheehan, Anthony N. Brady, of Albany; ex-Senator Jacob A. Cantor, John P. Carroll and many other Democratic leaders. All spoke encouragingly of prospects here as well as in the interior of the State.

Reports from Chautauque, a rock-ribbed Republican county, indicate the possibility, if not the probability, of gaining a member of Assembly. The course of the County Treasurer, which forced his removal, and the fact that Speaker S. Fred Nixon was one of his defenders before the Governor, has given the Democrats an advantage which they are improving.

State Committee member Thomas H. Dowd and Frank H. Miller, his proxy, introduced the Bryan resolution at the recent State Committee meeting, wrote that the county treasurer scandal is driving many votes to the Democratic ticket.

Republican leaders were again circulating the report yesterday that Richard Croker had practically taken charge of the Assembly campaign above the Harlem and was ignoring the work of the State Campaign Committee in whatever he was doing. Mr. Croker said last night:

"Of course there is no truth in this. I am not interfering with the State in any way. I am continuing my efforts to elect New York. The State Campaign Committee is looking after the interior, as it ought. I believe the chances are good for a Democratic majority in the next Assembly."

WOMEN DRIVE NAILS FOR SILVER SPOONS.

The Excitement Attending the Contest Nearly Wrecks the Town Hall.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Oct. 18.—A driving nail match between well known women of Spragueville has created a decided sensation in that quiet place. The affair was held in the town hall. The prize to the winner was a silver sugar bowl and spoons. Eight women were ranged on the platform. Each had a hammer, a block of wood and five nails.

The one driving the five nails into the block of wood first was to be declared the winner.

A big crowd filled the hall. The judges, A. C. Arnold, G. B. Becker and Samuel Arnold, gave the signal, and the struggle began. It raged with fury for a moment, when one of the ladies held aloft a hammer, the sign that she had completed the feat. Then it was discovered that she had two nails yet to be driven. Then there was trouble, and the judges wished they had never consented to officiate. At a second trial Mrs. E. A. Luckey was declared the winner with Mrs. Rudolph Miller a close second.

After a long and acrimonious debate, the North Church of the Reformed Church, in session in the old Reformed Church, in Williamsburg, yesterday decided to call the Rev. Frederick Stenbeger, as pastor of the German Reformed Church, of Jamaica.

Stops Laying of Trolley Tracks.

Francis H. Van Vleet yesterday, as counsel for Richard C. McCormick, obtained an order from Justice Jones in the Supreme Court, restraining the New York & Queens County Electric Railroad from laying any more tracks in Jamaica pending a hearing to have the injunction made permanent.

OUR OPEN LETTER

I say these things to convince you of my friendship for you. I ask you in return for that friendship to retire from the lobby at Albany and leave your fellow citizens a chance. There is not room there for every one.

Your powerful position as chairman of the State Committee gives you an influence that is very large. Legislators in your political class feel obliged to vote for a bill for nothing if you ask them to do so.

Benjamin B. Odell, Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Dear Ben: It is more in grief than in rage that I write to you. The hair is gray upon my head; the whiskers that depend from my chin have grown a frosty white. I am older than you and know more. It is fair that I should point you as to the things on which you are not informed, and show you the errors that you are making.

For so many years that it almost seems that I have been doing it forever. I have hung about the lobbies at Albany pulling legs that no other man could reach and influencing legislation that no one but myself could put through. If there is anything about the lobbying business that I do not know I am not aware of the name or the address of the person who can post me.

You are a slick fellow and a nice fellow. Even one of your opponents who would rather not say anything good of you remarked the other day: "Odell is the brightest slob in politics." I quite agree with him. In 1896, when you thought you had a chance to be nominated for Governor, but didn't have it, you behaved like a man of my own kidney. Realizing that the eleventh hour you lack of show, you calmly came out and refused the nomination.

I have never ceased admiring the man with which you threw that party.

Many times at the last session you did so, and a more sore lot of legislators were heaped together in the Capitol. There were bills the passage of which should have been immensely profitable to professional lobbyists and to Assemblymen alike. These bills went through because you said so, and men who stood prepared to pay thousands of dollars did not have to pay.

I ask you, brother Odell, whether this was kind or nice of you? What is the use of being in the Legislature, if one has no power to private bills through as party measures without a chance of denouncing and of subsequently being defeated? There are many Assemblymen who will lack overcoat this winter, and whose wives will not wear the silk stockings which they are entitled, because you came to Albany and made fellows vote for nothing who went there to vote for something.

You have been a member of Congress and are known everywhere. It hurts you to be recognized as an amateur legislation maker, and it hurts me inconceivably more for you to make legislation free of charge, while I have a regular tariff and union scale card for the same work.

The legislators do not go to Albany for their health or for the social advantages to be found in that city. Apparently you go there for nothing else. Please stop it, or we may have trouble hereafter in filling the Assembly. It is hurting your reputation.

Ladies and Gentlemen—Please keep your eye on the upraised paw of the tiger, On November 7 it is expected to smash the doughty warrior. This warrior rode blithely from Albany on his famous horse "Me" to save the poor man whom you see lying, an inert mass, struck down by the tiger's tail. In the middle distance you see the famous "Me" snorting in terror. On the right you see the trusty Goo-Goo doing what he can for the tiger with a hammer.

"THIS IS A STRAIGHT PARTY FIGHT," SAYS CROKER.

"It's just a straight fight between Tammany Hall and the Republican organization and the people know it," said Richard Croker at the Democratic Club last night when shown a copy of Senator Elsborg's speech containing the observation that "honest government and not party government is the Republican watchword in this city."

"They are trying to change since two years ago," said Mr. Croker. "But they cannot. They haven't a non-partisan ticket this year any more than the Mazet committee is non-partisan. That committee started out to be non-partisan. But it has been spending the people's money getting the Republican platform ready."

COMSTOCK'S MEN ARREST

Three men giving their names as Lawrence Stover, thirty-three years old, of No. 148 East Fourteenth street; Frank Marshall, a coachman, of No. 52 West Broadway; and Joseph Bernard, of the Morton House, were locked up in the Mercer street station last evening, charged by several of Comstock's men with violation of the gambling laws. No particulars were given.

About 8:30 o'clock Magistrate Meade arrived with a bondsman and admitted all three to bail. The sergeant in charge last night said he did not know the name of the bondsman.

HOW TO GET ALONG AS A POLITICIAN.

"Always Keep Your Promises" Is the Rule of Mr. Hoffman.

BENJAMIN HOFFMAN, Tammany candidate for Civil Justice in the Fifth Municipal District, and Democratic member of the Mazet Committee, gave these two reasons yesterday in explaining how he had got along in politics:

"I have never believed," he said, "that I could make a mistake. If I followed the policy of my party, and I have always kept my word, I have Germans, Hebrews, Irishmen and Italians in my district. If I have said to any one of them that I would do a thing I have come pretty near doing it. If I couldn't do it I wouldn't promise. I got my education from City Chamberlain Keenan."

"How I got along in politics is simple enough. I was born in the ward where I live now. When I was twenty-one I thought it was my duty to go into public affairs. I went about making speeches until 1894, when the leader of my district, Patrick Keenan, absolutely unsolicited, sent for me, and said there was a vacancy in the Assembly and wanted to know if I would accept the nomination. I did and was elected by 1,400 plurality when the city went 90,000 against us and we had only twenty-one Assemblymen in the whole State of New York. I have been elected every year since by increasing majorities."

"I don't remember the first political speech I made. I belonged to the County Democracy in 1885, while Mr. Keenan was the leader. When he went into Tammany Hall I went with him and was made secretary of the General Committee in our district."

"When I had returned from school one noon time in 1877 I was thirteen years old—my father told me he had a place for me in A. C. Steckler's law office. I went down that afternoon and stayed there until I was admitted to the bar in 1885. And the first thing I did after I was admitted was to get my father to borrow $5 to get home with. I asked my wife yesterday if she remembered it, and she said yes."

"Being in the Assembly has been a great luxury to me and has cost me about all I have."

"My children now go to the same school Grammar School No. 15—that I went to when I was a boy. I know every one in the district, and I hope they all know me."

The Chapel of St. Luke's Home, an Episcopal institution for indigent Christian females, at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Broadway, was dedicated and blessed yesterday. Dr. Morgan was one of encouragement to the trustees, managers and inmates of the institution.

A Wide Beamed Collar.

Republican Candidates for the Bench and Local Offices Are Formally Notified of Their Nomination.

The Republican notification meeting met this afternoon at the Lawyers' Club yesterday afternoon, all except Justice Barrett, who was notified on Tuesday, and Judge Blanchard, who sent word he was ill, and informed them officially that they had been nominated for offices by the Republicans of New York.

There was a slight delay in the ceremonies caused by the apparent absence of Mr. Knudsen, candidate for Judge of the City Court. It so happened that Mr. Knudsen was not known by sight to Mr. Quigg and other members of the Notification Committee, and they could not identify him in the throng. The little incident was productive of humorous comment.

State Senator Elsborg, chairman of the committee, was introduced by Mr. Quigg, and tendered the candidates their nominations. The response of former Justice Joseph Daily was especially spirited.

Senator Elsborg had enquired the non-partisanship of the Republicans in municipal politics.

Judge Daily said he accepted the nomination and then added:

"The candidates whom you have nominated represent to me no shade of political opinion. You have shown no political bias in framing this ticket; on the contrary, you have manifested a desire to subordinate partisanship to the common good where there is a question of local concern, and above all where the purity of the judiciary is concerned; and you can confidently rely for support to the intelligence, the honesty and the patriotism of every voter."

Praises for Patriotism.

"Last year you united with the whole independent sentiment of the community and the whole legal profession in the effort to secure the freedom of the Bench from influence which sought to degrade it to the level of a party appendage and make it the instrument of personal gain."

As Republicans you supported a Democratic Judge who had been refused a nomination by the leaders of his own party because of his independence. And you evince in the present nomination a determination to carry on the contest until the principle for which you fought—the independence of the Bench—shall have been established.

"There is no need to rehearse the discreditable catalogue of lies from which we suffer. It seems incredible that with so much said in good, honest, charitable, pure and brave among us we should continue to suffer such lies. It should be inconceivable that any student of history should be ignorant of the fact that the history of the simple scheme of using votes as an industry, to hold the purses and property of the whole community as his personal emolument."

"It is even more astonishing that when the remedy is in the hands of the citizen—when he has only to register and vote in order to regain control of his government and rule his municipal servants instead of being ruled by them—that any should be found so foolish or negligent as to register from that slight exertion to preserve his rights."

Must Blame Themselves.

"It cannot, however, be said that no opportunity is given to the citizen to obtain redress. Let it not be our excuse that we refrain from using our prerogative as voters and so accept misrule as a choice and not as a necessity."

"We are now given an opportunity of which every man may avail himself. Delegates from all the organizations which interested themselves in the practical question of decent government, delegates from our own party and from the representatives of labor, have in conference agreed upon a platform which represents the interests of municipal politics—public office freed from obligation to political leaders."

The candidates elected upon such a ballot owe no masters but the people and the laws.

"It is an augury of success that this ticket is the choice of the workmanman. He is the greatest support when Democratic institutions and representative government give way to absolutism inspired by the present nomination a determination to carry on the contest until the principle for which you fought—the independence of the Bench—shall have been established."

"The enormous burden of a monstrous taxation, swelled by the multiplication of sinecures, bears hardest upon the man who earns his bread by his daily toil. No man who pays the taxes should, above all, be likely to be the only victim when the courts, which should be his refuge and his shield, are controlled by power whose avowed object is the acquisition of money."

The other fusion candidates who thanked the chairman for their nominations were James M. Varum, Samuel Seabury, Herman Knudsen and William J. O'Brien. The latter spoke much enthusiasm when he said that he expected to hold the office of Sheriff next year.

There was a luncheon served after the notification ceremonies.
